

NAVAL CADETS' DRILL HALL.

Since the formation of the Geelong corps of the Boys' Naval Brigade the lads have been drilling in the old Customs sheds, the use of which they have had free of charge. The building is reported to be unsuitable for such purposes, and it has been suggested that the dumping shed on the Yarra-street wharf should be made available. This is the property of the Harbor Trust, and when approached yesterday as to its use it was ascertained it is leased to an intercolonial shipping company at a good rental; the boys could not have it. The Trust have treated the naval and military authorities generously. A boatshed site was granted free of cost in addition to the old Customs shed and the military had had possession of a large tract of ground on the Barwon river for trench work free of expense.
