

HIGH PRAISE FOR YOUTH BRIGADE

Lieut.-Governor Watches Display

Stressing the importance of self-discipline in the youth of the country, the Lieutenant Governor (Sir Edmund Herring) praised the work of the Boys' Brigade, at the brigades' annual review and display, in Hawthorn town hall last night.

Sir Edmund Herring encouraged the lads to continue with their activities and said that he was pleased to hear that the Australian organisation, although not as big as its English counterpart, was making rapid strides.

The Lieutenant Governor was welcomed to the display by the chairman (Rev. J. M. Young).

During the inspection, Sir Edmund Herring showed a keen interest in the dress of each lad. He was particularly impressed with the display of physical exercises during the evening.
